Reviews

*A whole new eBook with a brand new point of view. It is definitely simplistic but shocks in the 50 percent of the publication. I am just pleased to explain how this is the greatest ebook i have read during my very own daily life and could be he best ebook for possibly.

Createspace, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Jennifer Barks (illustrator). 279 x 216 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .My grandfather, Jozef Kodyra, was born July 7, 1913, in New York. His birth in America made him a U.S. citizen. In 1921, when he was still a young child, his family moved to Poland to build and grow their family farm. My grandmother, Helena Sudol, was born February 2, 1917 in Wiltschawola, Poland, where she too lived on her family farm. They married in 1937 and lived in several towns in Ukraine and Poland. They finally settled in Malynsk. My grandparents had five children. Three of them, Gene, Chester, and Josephine, were born before World War II. My grandfather worked with his father on their farm and also, worked for the Polish Embassy. In 1939, the Nazis invaded Poland and took the entire family to a holding camp (ghetto) outside of Pobiedziska. They were taken, not because they were Jews, but because they were Polish. From the ghetto they were forcibly sent on a two-week journey in an overcrowded railcar to Burghausen, Germany. When the train stopped, they found themselves at a concentration camp called Dachau. My grandfather was forced to work cleaning up garbage in the streets, and my grandmother had to work at a cemetery. Their children were sent to daycare and not allowed to be with them. Just a few days after arriving at the labor camp, my grandmother was handed a note by a Nazi guard stating that her daughter Josephine had died of tuberculosis. My grandparents were never allowed to see her body. They believed the Nazis took her to keep as their own since she was Aryan looking (Nazi s racist idea that blond-haired and blue-eyed people were...
