Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1882 edition. Excerpt: .This is only fair to the competitors, as many words vary in different lexicons, and, if not spelt according to one authority, are apt to cause bickering and unpleasantness. Having decided on the prizes, which are on show on the evening of the competition, you arrange with an impartial and well-educated person as interlocutor, and it is often as well to have an umpire, whose decision shall be final. On the evening of the contest the competitors are ranged in a half circle, the public being admitted to the proceedings at a fee of 6d., which will help to swell the funds of the charity, and the words are then put to each one in turn, no two competitors to be asked the same question, but each to have two tries, a black mark to go down to the one who does not spell the word correctly the first time, two if failing both times, and if missing three words to retire from the bee. Twelve words are a good number, but if the competitors show extraordinary ability, the number of words can be added to, and the one spelling the greatest number to take the first prize, We would counsel the interrogator to prepare a lengthy list of questions before the day arrives, as by so doing he will be able to make a thorough good hard selection. Also have the dictionary by whose decision you abide by handy, in case anyone should wish...
