2013. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. 300 pages. English India has progressed substantially in improving both production and productivity of cotton over the last five years, transforming from a net importer of cotton, to becoming one of the largest exporters, shipping 5.5 million bales in 2010-11, second only to the USA. The cotton cultivation is a very important part of the Indian agrarian landscape and provides sustainable livelihood to a sizeable population in India. Cotton is cultivated in about 10.31 million hectares in the country, which accounts for 30 percent of the global cotton area and contributes to 22 percent of the global cotton produce. It is estimated that more than 5.8 million farmers cultivate cotton in India and about 40-50 million people are employed directly or indirectly by the cotton industry. Government initiatives the Technology Mission on Cotton and Technology Up-gradation Fund Scheme have improved the marketability of the farm produce and helped in modernizing and upgrading the ginning and pressing factories. These initiatives have led to appreciable improvement in the quality of cotton bales, which in turn have proven beneficial for the textile industry. Furthermore, growing disposable incomes have also accelerated domestic consumption, increasing demand within the country as well. The sustained efforts made on the development of varieties and hybrid seeds have resulted in high growth in cotton production. The seed-fertilizer revolution in cotton had widened the development gap between irrigated and rain fed cultivation and also between resource rich and poor regions. However, the national cotton yield is far below than that of other cotton growing countries indicating that, even making allowances for yield differences due to varying climatic conditions and adoption of improved technology, there is an untapped yield potential of cotton in India The Title Who And India (English), written by Swapna Avasti,
